

The route to market for measurement & monitoring products

9th November, Bretby Conference Centre, nr Burton on Trent www.bretbycc.co.uk

It seems as if the time of sensors and monitoring has finally arrived with the demands being made by the Water Framework Directive. However the market in the water and waste treatment industry is small in global terms and getting innovation to market is challenging.

This Workshop will be valuable to anyone involved the the chain from ideas generation through to the marketing of commercial products.
